

LIABILITY ACT

SUBJECT OF BRIEF FILED IN SUPREME COURT.

Government Will Defend New Act as Passed Last April

OBJECT OF LAW IS TO PROTECT

Employe Engaged in Interstate Commerce from Injury by Carrier.

Law Challenged by New York, New Haven and Hartford Railways.

Washington, May 3.—The government today filed in the supreme court a brief in the case of Edgar v. Munn, against the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company. The case was brought under the employers liability act of April 22, 1908, and the government, by permission of the court, is allowed to intervene and present its views in support of the constitutionality of the act, which has been challenged by the defendant company. Attorney General Wickham, who filed the brief, has taken a strong personal interest in this case, and it is of great importance and interest to the government. The act in question is the employers liability act of April 22, 1908, which provides that any person engaged in interstate commerce who is injured by a carrier shall be entitled to recover damages from the carrier. The act is challenged by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, which claims that the act is unconstitutional. The government, on the other hand, claims that the act is constitutional and that it is necessary for the protection of the public interest. The case is expected to be argued in the supreme court in the near future.

TARIFF SUFFICIENT

To Save American Manufacturer His Low Grade Lumber Supply

IS THE KIND SENATOR PILES,

Of Washington Would Have His Conferees Put on Commodity.

Washington, May 3.—A speech against free lumber was made in the senate today by Senator Piles, of Washington. He contended that a tariff sufficient to save the American manufacturer the United States market for his low grade lumber and shingles will make it possible for him to utilize every part of the tree. If this market were taken possession of by the Canadian manufacturer, he said, the American lumberman would be obliged to leave a large percentage of the tree in the forest, a total loss and a constant drain on the standing timber. In Washington, he pointed out, lumber is the principal industry, employing 110,000 men with average annual wages exceeding $600,000,000. Free lumber, he said, would stimulate the development of Canadian provinces, and be a detriment to the business interests of this country. Mr. Piles declared that practically the only persons seeking a lumber tariff reduction are American exporters of timber in Canada, and he is present to protect the interests of the Forest Five association against any reduction. He exhibited an original proposed contract of sale that Canadian lumbermen had submitted to American consumers in which they stipulated that one half of the reduction in duty shall be paid to them.

SIX THOUSAND

Singers Rehearsed Yesterday for Great Musical Festival.

New York, May 3.—Six thousand singers in various cities yesterday rehearsed for the great musical festival to be given in Madison Square Garden, commencing June 10 by the Northwest Federation of Singing Societies. The one thousand members of the New York section rehearsed the program in the hall of the Arion society. Simultaneously other sections of the federation held rehearsals in Philadelphia, Buffalo, Wilkes-Barre, Atlantic City, Hartford, Richmond, Va., Cleveland and in Brooklyn. All of them sang "Fair Ellen." They will form one of the largest choruses which ever sang at one time. This year the college glee clubs will participate in the program.

JOB HUNTERS TAKE HIS TIME.

Columbus, O., May 3.—It is expected that when Governor Harmon returns from Cincinnati about the middle of the week he will take up the appointment of a state shop inspector and a state labor commissioner. State Factory and Shop Inspector J. H. Morgan has been endeavoring to get an audience with the governor and express his willingness to give way to his successor when ever he is chosen, but has not had an opportunity of doing so because of the latter's time being so much taken up by job hunters and their friends.

EDITOR DIES OF TUBERCULOSIS.

Canton, O., May 3.—Ivor J. Davis, 38 years old, former editor and postmaster at Niles, Ohio, and well known in Mahoning county politics, died here today of tuberculosis.

COUNT TO HAVE PLACE IN CABINET.

Newport, R. I., May 3.—Friends of the Vanderbilt family have received word that the unexpected recall of Count Laszlo Szechenyi who married Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, means his appointment to a portfolio in the new cabinet of the Hungarian government. When the Count and Countess Szechenyi arrived in America in the middle of April they planned to stay perhaps all summer. On April 24 the count was imperiously recalled to Hungary, and then it was understood it was because of the uneasy situation in the Balkans and because he holds a military office. But word has now come and it is fully credited that he is to be tendered a portfolio in the cabinet which his close personal friend Andreassy, the new premier of Hungary is forming.

U. B. CONFERENCE AT CANTON, MAY 13.

Canton, O., May 3.—The United Brethren World's conference will be held in Canton, beginning May 13th and continuing two weeks. The following denominational bishops are on the program: Bishops Mathews, of California; Carter, of Chattanooga; Tenen, of Mills of Anville, Pa.; and Castle, of Oregon. Among the leading speakers engaged are William Jennings Bryan, Senator Dooliver, and ex-Governor Hanley, of Indiana. The opening session will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Bishops Mills presiding. Bishop N. Castle, D. D., follows with an address. Bishop J. S. Mills, D. D., delivers the quadrangular address of Bishops on the same afternoon. On Thursday evening Rev. F. I. Beckwith, pastor of the First Baptist church, Canton, is to give an address, representing the Stark County Ministerial Federation. Judge Henry W. Harter, representing the city of Canton, follows. Several sessions will be held.

PAULIST CHORUS STARTS EN TOUR.

Chicago, May 3.—The Paulist chorus society of St. Marys Roman Catholic church leaves today on a concert tour to the east visiting Detroit, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, New York, Baltimore and Washington. This is said to be the first trip of the kind ever made by a Roman Catholic organization.

BALLOON FLIGHT PROVED FAILURE.

Berlin, May 3.—The balloon competition started here Saturday afternoon resulted in failure, owing to the heavy snow in the upper atmosphere. Six balloons ascended in a rain which in the colder strata several thousand feet high turned into snow. The ships became weighted with the snow and the pilots were obliged to throw out their ballast rapidly to prevent a premature landing. Not one of the ships was able to cover the course, and all of them came down crushed with snow to the depth of one foot.

TWO GOVERNMENTS FOR ZION CITY.

Chicago, May 3.—Zion City, Doan's former stronghold has two mayors and two councils. The latter will sit, or try to sit, tonight at the same meeting place and both E. R. Ritchy and W. Hurd Clendenen will attempt to preside. The former polled the greater number of votes at the recent election but the latter is out with a signed statement that he expects to remain mayor for the coming year and as he is backed by William Glenn Voliva and the police force, violence may occur when the two factions meet.

PARDON BOARD NAMED BY HARMON.

Columbus, O., May 3.—Governor Harmon, before his departure for Cincinnati today, announced the appointment of two members of the state pardon board. He reappointed Samuel D. Dodge, of Cleveland, democrat, and dropped Paul B. Worthington, of Barnesville, Belmont county, republican, appointing N. S. Wright of Toledo, republican, his successor. The terms of Dodge and Worthington expired on April 29.

ORDINANCES.

A Baker's Dose Up for Consideration Tonight.

If everything goes smoothly at council meeting tonight, thirteen ordinances for the paving of that many streets or sections of streets will be adopted, the rules suspended and the ordinances passed. This number includes both west Market and West Spring streets, and if all are passed, advertisements for bids can be at once begun. Even then the work will not be ready for active operations before June 1st or even later.

SERIOUS WORK

PEACE MEETING IS COSTING MUCH MONEY

And Delegates Are Expected to Give World Some Return.

TAFT WRITES OF HIS SYMPATHY

With Movement In Order to Lessen Heavy Burden Put Upon

People to Meet Growing Competition in Naval Armament.

Chicago, May 3.—The Second National Peace Congress was opened formally here today. Orchestra hall was well filled with delegates. Robert Treat Taft, of Boston, president of the American peace society was in the chair. Addresses of welcome were made by Governor Charles S. Deneen and Mayor Fred A. Buss, of Chicago. The Rev. Eugene Bartlett, chairman of the reception committee, welcomed the delegates to the work of the congress and told them of the arrangements that had been made for their comfort and convenience. A letter from President Taft was read by Secretary of the Interior Richard A. Ballinger, who had been delegated to represent the administration. Miss Anna B. Eckstein, of Boston, announced "A World Petition to the Third Hague Conference." Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace Society, told of the present position of the peace movement and Dean W. S. Rogers, of the Cincinnati law school, spoke of the "Dawn of Universal Peace."

In his address of Welcome Dr. Bartlett said: "We welcome you to the serious work of the congress. Large have been the expenditures but we expect you to do your work so faithfully so that the achievements of this gathering will be more than commensurate with its expenditures. This congress must be more than a spasmodic expression of protest against war and a resolution that disarmament would be desirable. It should inaugurate a still more effective campaign of education of the people in the interests of permanent world wide peace. The burdens of war are borne by the common people and in the end the verdict of war or peace must rest with the rank and file on the people." Exercises of many kinds were held in the city yesterday as a preliminary to this session. Special peace services were held in all of the churches in the morning. In the afternoon there was a labor demonstration and the socialists held several meetings. In the evening a big mass meeting was held under the auspices of the Sunday Evening Club.

"Some power which the world will need must take the initiative in proposing peace to the world," said Robert T. Paine, of Boston, in his opening address at the peace congress today. Continuing he said: "We meet here in Chicago in hopes that Chicago will move the United States to take this step for which the whole world awaits. Even so, for a long time, the world has condemned the mad policy of war. There are outbreaks of actual war occurring, congress after congress are called to condemn the folly of perpetually increasing preparation. The cost of this annual burden is bankrupting the nations. The wealth of the world refuses any longer to be wasted. Some nation, some power must take the initiative in proposing a plan by which peace may banish wars."

President Taft's Address: "My Dear Sir,—I greatly regret that I am unable to attend the coming national peace congress at Chicago and thereby to express my earnest sympathy with the object of the assembly of so many distinguished men in the interest of world peace. That progress has made in the matter of peace everywhere by international action and by the moral pressure of the peoples of the earth, any one who has examined the record must admit. It is true that armament goes on increasing in cost, but it is also true that the burdens presented by this competition in armament are growing heavier and heavier, and the problems for solution consistent with their increase become more and more difficult.

The possibilities of war now arising come chiefly from irresponsibilities of government and in those countries where stability of internal control is lacking. The United States has contributed much to the cause of peace by assisting countries weak in respect to their internal government so as to strengthen in them the cause of law and order. This relationship of guardian and ward as between nations and countries, in my judgment, helps along the cause of international peace and indicates progress in the civilization. The policy of the United States in avoiding war under all circumstances, except those plainly inconsistent with honor or its high self welfare, has been made so clear to the world as hardly to need statement at my hands. I can only say that so far as my legitimate in-

HEPBURN RATE

BILL IN APPLICATION TO COMMODITY CLAUSE

Declared Constitutional by Supreme Court of the United States.

DECISION AS ANNOUNCED BY

Justice White Limits in Degree the Scope of the Government.

Principal Point Decided Related to Stock Ownership.

Washington, May 3.—That the "commodities clause" of the interstate commerce act of 1906 known as the Hepburn railroad rate law, is constitutional was today in effect declared by the supreme court of the United States. The decision was announced by Justice White. The court reversed and remanded the decision of the United States circuit court, but the only directions were to enforce and apply the statute as it is now construed. Briefly summarized the decision of the supreme court in the commodities clause cases holds the law to be constitutional, but it does not concede the contentions of the government as to its scope. An especial exception was as to the ownership of stock in a different corporation, which it was held did not constitute such ownership as would prohibit transportation under the terms of the law. It was also held that ownership of the commodity applied only to the time of transportation. If before transporting it the railroad company has in good faith parted with the commodity it may carry it. The principal point of the decision was in relation to railroads holding the stock of subordinate companies, and on that important point the finding was favorable to the roads. Justice Harlan dissented on the stock ownership question, the decision was unanimous.

STEAM FREIGHTERS

Of Steel Trust Will Not Sail for One Week at Least.

LAKE CARRIERS DECLARE DELAY

Is Due to Inability of Owners to Outfit With Crews.

Chicago, May 3.—The steam freighters Elwood and Zenith City, belonging to the United States Steel Company and which it had been stated would sail today, probably will not get away for another week. At the headquarters of the Lake Carriers' Association it is said that most of the fleet had already sailed during the last fortnight but that the two mentioned were not yet outfitted. Victoria Olander, secretary of the Lake Seamen's union, declared, however, that the non-departure of the two boats were due to their inability to ship crews owing to the strike which began Saturday. "Our men are leaving their berths as fast as their ships come into ports," said Mr. Olander. "It is not necessary for our agents to meet them as the sailors report at headquarters as fast as they arrive here." Police were on guard at South Chicago today, but no disturbances were reported.

MRS. TAFLINGER

Died at City Hospital Last Evening.

Mrs. Rebecca Taflinger, who was taken to the city hospital from her home at 605 North Union street, just a week ago yesterday, died at the hospital last night after a week of suffering. Mrs. Taflinger had requested that a postmortem be held and Dr. Huntley, Thomas and Bachmayer held the examination last night at the Whitley morgue, where the remains had been taken. It was found that death had been caused by cerberosis of the liver.

Mrs. Taflinger had been a widow for a number of years, and leaves five children, one son and four daughters. She was born in this state fifty-six years ago, and for a number of years has made her home in this city. The funeral service will be held at the home, 605 North Union street, on Wednesday morning, at ten o'clock, and interment will follow at Shawnee cemetery.

STATE

Funeral Will Be Accorded Heinrich Cord.

New York May 3.—Unusual honors are to be paid to the memory of Heinrich Cord formerly director of the Metropolitan opera house at his funeral in this city according to plans now maturing. Many of those who had been associated with the director including singers, subscribers and financial backers of opera in America, have sought the permission of the Congress relatives to have the body of the distinguished man, after a state funeral in the Metropolitan opera house, where he achieved such great success.

WHOLE CABINET HAS RESIGNED.

Constantinople, May 3.—The Turkish cabinet resigned today. The political situation is bewildering and no one can tell what the outcome will be. This latest ministry was organized April 30 with Tavrık Pasha as grand vizier.

BREATHITT FEUD CASES OF PDOCKET

Jackson, Ky., May 3.—John Abner, charged with the assassination of John Cockrill here during the Saturday feud, was arrested Saturday. This clears all pockets of the Breathitt feud cases in which Judge Hargis, Edward Callahan, B. Fulton French and several others were accused and which resulted in the death of Dr. D. B. Cox, James Cockrill and James Marcum.

The case was tried before Judge Holt, specially appointed by Governor Willson. Curtis Jett and John Smith also were charged with the murder. Jett confessed firing the shot.

HANGING BEE AS THE SUN CAME UP.

Constantinople, May 3.—Thirteen civilians and soldiers sentenced by the military courts to death for murder, were hanged in different parts of Constantinople at four o'clock this morning.

Major Youssef, his son and three other men who killed the Syrian deputy, Emir Mohammed Arslan in front of the parliament building were executed on the spot where they committed the crime. Five others were hanged at the entrance of the ministry of war and three men at the Stamboul end of the Gallata bridge. Among those three is said to be Mured, editor of the newspaper Nisam. Upon the breast of each criminal had been pinned a large placard in Turkish setting forth the sentence.

CHIEF SURGEON OFFERS AN EXCUSE.

Washington, May 3.—Taking his cue from the tragedy at Camp Keiler in Minanao, where eleven soldiers died within 48 hours, from the use of wood alcohol in the form of "Colombian spirits," Col. L. M. Mayas, chief surgeon of the Philippines, now on his way home, says this occurrence is a strong argument in favor of the restoration of the beer and wine features of the post exchange. He believes that had the soldier victims been accorded the privileges of ordinary citizens and allowed to purchase beer at the isolated posts, their lives would not have been sacrificed.

POLICEMAN HELD FOR BOYS' MURDER.

New York, May 3.—As a result of a wound received yesterday in a struggle with a policeman over his father's arrest, Louis Prober, a fifteen year old boy, died early today in the Brooklyn hospital. Policeman Dillon, who says the revolver was discharged accidentally in a scuffle is held at his station.

NEW RULING MAKES VOTES COUNT DOUBLE.

Double Votes Will be Given on All Subscriptions Turned in This Period.

This Offer Applies Only on Subscriptions Which Are Taken This Period and Reported to the Times-Democrat Office During Third Period. More Votes This Period Than Ever Before or Again.

Saturday's Balloting Resulted in Two Important Changes in the Leaderships in District Nos. 3 and 4. Miss Marie Kenney is Now Leader in District No. 1 While Miss Hazel Kollsmith, of Delphos, Springs a Surprise and Takes First Place in District No. 4.

To invite even greater interest and enthusiasm on the part of the public, and also encourage still greater activity among the friends of the contestants at the time when the field is clearest of the canvass, the Times-Democrat announces a new ruling in connection with its Tour-of-Europe contest.

Beginning today and ending at 8 o'clock, Saturday evening, May 8th, the usual number of votes will be given on all subscriptions turned in to the Times-Democrat office. The number of votes given in the third period of the contest, which begins today, is considerably less than the regular number given in the second period; but with the number of votes given in the third period doubled subscriptions will have a greater voting value this period than they have had at any previous time on the contest or will have at any future time.

For instance, one new thirty-six month subscription which would regularly count for 3,600 votes in the second period will count for 7,200 votes, this period, as a result of the double vote offer. This double vote offer applies to subscriptions for any length of time, from ten weeks up to thirty-six months, and from either old or new subscribers. This offer is the contestant's opportunity. By means of it a contestant can double the results of her work and insure her success at the finish.

While it is, of course, possible for a contestant to win out at the finish through efforts put forth at a later date, it is safe to say that the contestants will win or lose according to the efforts they put forth this period. Usually a word to the wise is sufficient.

Looking over the lists and trying to figure out the winners is getting to be as difficult as trying to tell a city block away whether the beautiful blonde is "natural or peroxide." Any friend who wishes to help a favorite but does not understand how best to do so may obtain full information by calling on the contest department of the Times-Democrat.

The first four weeks of the contest have now gone by and, although the contestants have done splendid work during this time, there is every indication that they will accomplish many times more during the remaining two weeks. Although every one claims the victory at the finish for his or her favorite, the question of the winners is a debatable one that can only be settled by the developments of the campaign.

Word has been received from Thomas Cook & Son, of New York City, that every arrangement has been made for the tour and that after some little difficulty they have finally succeeded in securing the best accommodations which the boats the tourists will use provide. Everything has been anticipated which would in any way add to the pleasure and comfort of the trip, and from the time the tourists leave Lima until five weeks later they are returned home, there will be nothing to interfere with the fullest enjoyment of the tour.

The conductor of the tour is thoroughly familiar with the historical associations and traditions of the places to be visited, and with his knowledge of the conditions of European travel he is in a position to look after the interests and desires of the tourists in the most satisfactory manner possible. It should be understood that The Times-Democrat tour is a personally conducted tour; that all details of arrangements are looked after in advance by the Times-Democrat and the conductor; and that the tourists will have nothing to do from the time they leave Lima until they return with the exception of enjoying themselves to the limit of their capacity.

As to the conductors of the tour, Thomas Cook & Son, they have long since won recognition as the foremost conductors of European and world tours, and it would be impossible to find anyone better qualified to meet the requirements of tour conducting.

Over one hundred coupons clipped from the papers were thrown out in counting the ballots Saturday. They were so faded and rolled up that they were not acceptable. It is no trouble to deposit ballots properly according to the request printed on each.

There is no limit placed upon the number of coupons that any candidate may receive. Candidates may vote as many coupons clipped from the papers as they can secure. The polls close each afternoon at four o'clock, and votes deposited will go in the following day. All nomination and coupon ballots that have been cast up until last Saturday will be destroyed on Wednesday, May 5th. Candidates are requested to notify the contest manager before that time if there are any errors in their standing as published in today's issue. All special ballots are reserved until the close of the contest.

A NEW RULING IN THE CONTEST

Feeling that the candidates and their particular friends needed an extra incentive or stimulant to encourage them to make the greatest efforts during this part of the contest, when the field is still clear for the campaign, the Times-Democrat, thru its Tour-of-Europe Contest department, makes a new ruling in which will be given, for this period only,

GASOLINE EXPLOSION

Badly Burned Mother and Little Child.

This afternoon at 1:30 an explosion of a gasoline stove at the home of Antonio L. Lazo, living at 1605 East Vine street, resulted in his wife being burned seriously, and the little three-month-old child which she carried in her arms, was also burned to some extent.

Full particulars could not be learned, but the fluid, when the stove exploded was thrown all over the woman, and she was burned to a crisp on portions of her body. She threw the babe from her, but before it was scalded, was called, and both mother and child taken to the hospital where they were removed to the surgery on the third floor, and even though possible is being done for the sufferers. Reports from there at 3 o'clock are to the effect that the woman's burns are very deep and dangerous, but not necessarily fatal.

LARGE RECEPTION

Will Take Place at Columbus Memorial Hall.

Tomorrow evening there will be a big time at the Memorial hall in Columbus, when the various Posts and other military organizations of the city will unite in reception and entertainment of the establishment of the permanent headquarters of the G. A. R. in that city.

Both Dr. George Hall, as lieutenant commander and Mrs. Hall, as president of the Ladies of the G. A. R., will have prominent parts in the program.

The Republican Glee club of Columbus, a splendid musical organization, will take part in the musical program, and Rev. S. R. Clark, chaplain of Wells Post will open the evening.

Past Commander D. F. Pugh will make the welcome address and in addition to the responses made by Dr. and Mrs. Hall, there will be a talk made by Mrs. Edith Mason, department president of the W. R. C. Readings, singing of old army songs, and other interesting numbers will form the program, which will be under the charge of General Commander T. T. Smith, of Columbus.

CANTORIA. The Kid You Run Away From

Mr. John Alexander, of 453 South Union street, reported to the police headquarters Monday morning that someone had stolen a gold watch from his residence, valued at $45.

He gave the name of a man suspected and the officers arrested Clem Shaffer on suspicion. It developed later that they had the right man and he had sold the watch to a water well contractor, who is engaged in drilling a well at the Crystal Ice and Coal Co. plant, who returned the watch to the officers. Shaffer received $2.50 for the watch.

ANSWER FILED

In Damage Case—Divorce Granted.

In the case of William Shobe vs. Thomas J. and Gertrude Haver, et al., the defendants have filed their answer. The plaintiff sues for $3,000, claiming that the defendants took his wife and children from him and harbored them, for which he asks damages.

The defendants admit that Nellie Shobe is the wife of the plaintiff, but deny all other allegations. As a defense they set up the fact that the plaintiff, cruelly beat her and her children, and that upon her solicitation they permitted her and the children to come to their home.

Decree Granted.

At the noon hour Judge Khinger heard the divorce case of Ella Heiser against her husband, Daniel O., and granted the plaintiff a decree upon the grounds of extreme cruelty and cross neglect of duty, and awarded her $7,400 alimony.

Motion Filed.

In the case of R. L. Armstrong vs. John Hick, in which the plaintiff was granted a judgment for $220, upon his claim for attorney's fees, the defendant has filed a motion for new trial.

Will Filed.

The will of George Washington Marks, late of Monroe township, was filed for probate Saturday afternoon and the hearing set for May 15th.

WEATHER.
Washington, May 3.—For Ohio: Showers in south, fair in north tonight; Tuesday fair, fewer in north portion tonight.

If tariff agitation disturbs business, and republicans say it always does, then why not stop the disturbance that is going on between Aldrich, Elkins, Cummins and other senators, and let business at least get calm?

With farm products getting higher in price every year, it is hard to understand why each year a large percentage of the farmers' boys who have reached the go-away-from-home stage, hustle to the cities where the cost of living is increasing with even greater rapidity than the cost of farm produce is going up for the city consumer.

The man on the farm is not only the man of the hour now, but with the population of the country growing faster than farm products are being increased in quantity, he is the only American citizen who is certain of an undisturbed and prosperous future.

The farm is the place, and the young man who leaves it for the uncertainties and more than likely disappointments of city life is not exactly well balanced.

THE ANSWER OF PHILLIPS.

George Phillips, editor of the Saturday Chronicle recently received a letter from Senator Dick asking him to write him his opinion on the Payne tariff bill, whereupon Phillips mounted the tripod, and when he got through this is what he had said:

"This office is in receipt of a letter from Senator Charles Dick, of Ohio, soliciting my opinion on the proposed new tariff bill. We presume all the other Ohio editors have also been thus kindly invited to express their views. We thank the Senator for the keen interest he is taking in the matter and feel that our opinion would have about as much weight in the matter as that of any other Ohio editor. Phillips has been with the Mohammedans of Turkey; but we believe that if the senator would place his ear close to the earth he would soon be convinced that some ninety millions of people are very tired of paying tribute to a few thousand favored ones who have made fortunes by combinations of the necessities of life. He would also learn that 95 per cent of these same people would rise up and call him and his colleagues blessed if they would put on the free hat cotton goods, leather, tea, coffee, sugar, petroleum, wood pulp and all other raw materials that enter into articles consumed by the great common masses. The common people would not dub feel disposed to erect monuments at the death of senators who will make it impossible hereafter for grasping individuals on the boards of trade to control the grain markets so that the price of bread—the staff of life—would not soar beyond the reach of the poor widow and her half starved children. The wise men at Washington have stopped the lotteries but the thieves of the wheat pit go unmolested. We are frank to believe the senator is as capable of knowing the wants of the great common masses as we are, and if he and his colleagues should actually revise the tariff in the interest of the people the fallacy that the moon is made of green cheese would vanish. Put the tariff on the luxuries, senator, and don't sting the great masses with a lemon still higher in price. Of course, we should feel thankful that the air and sunshine are not free and that the proposed new tariff does not effect the English sparrow or German carp. Again thanking the senator, we trust that it will not be necessary for us to point our legs in ben of wearing cotton socks when the senate legislates in favor of the dear people."

SUIT IS DISMISSED.
Had Basis in Misunderstanding Between Plain-tiffs in Case.
MANLY STATEMENT PREPARED BY THEM

The suit brought by Abram F. Sarber last Friday against the Reed-Allen Realty company was dismissed today with the consent of Mr. Sarber and his co-plaintiff J. W. Allgrove. In his petition Mr. Sarber set forth that he purchased 160 acres of land located in Hartley county, Texas, from the defendants at the price of $4,000. He claims that he paid $1,600 cash and agreed to pay the balance in three installments. He further alleges that the defendants agreed to furnish him with a merchantable abstract of title to the property within a reasonable length of time, and that they have failed to do so. He further alleges that they agreed to return the cash payment upon their failure to furnish the abstract, and that they have failed to do either. He asked for judgment for the $1,600 cash payment and for $1,000 damages.

The suit, it developed when Mr. Allgrove came on from Texas, was due entirely to a misunderstanding between Sarber and Allgrove joint purchasers of the property, over its division, and in no wise should have reflected on the Reed-Allen company.

In justice to the company Messrs. Sarber and Allgrove today made public the following statement: To Whom It May Concern:—This is to certify that the suit commenced by Abram F. Sarber and J. W. Allgrove, in the court of common pleas of Allen county, Ohio, was simply because of a misunderstanding between the parties to the contract.

The undersigned wishes to state that they have been treated fairly in this matter all along, and a satisfactory settlement of said case has been made.

And the undersigned have no hesitancy in saying that they believe the intention of the Reed-Allen Realty Company has been honest and fair, and this misunderstanding probably arose on account of the fact that one of the plaintiffs resided in Texas and the other in Ohio and could not confer.

We feel just as friendly toward the Reed-Allen Realty Company as we did at the time we made the purchase.

EXHAUSTIVE REPORT
Of Special Master of C. H. & D. Receivership Proceedings.
REFERENCE TO THE MORTGAGE

Saturday Clerk Frank O. Loveland, of the United States circuit court of appeals, who was appointed special master to take testimony in the C. H. & D. receivership proceedings, filed in the federal court one of the two reports he is called upon to make. There was referred to him the question as to what the $17,000,000 mortgage to the New York Central Trust company covers and with reference to the claims said to be prior liens that were assumed within six months preceding the receivership. It was with reference to the mortgage that his report was made. The document will prove of vast interest in financial and railroad circles.

Clerk Loveland received his appointment in October last. The mortgage or deed of trust is dated January 2, 1905, while the road went into the hands of Receiver Judson Harman in December, 1905.

Special Master Loveland in his report states that the C. H. & D. is a consolidated railroad corporation, under the law of Ohio, July 7, 1893, and that the constituent companies of that consolidation were the C. H. & D., which runs from Cincinnati to Dayton, Ohio, a distance of 60 miles; the Cincinnati, Dayton and Ironton, from Dayton to Dean, Ohio, a distance of 140 miles; the Cincinnati, Dayton & Chicago, from Dayton to Delphos, Ohio, about 100 miles.

It is of the time operated railroads owned by different corporations as follows: Dayton & Michigan, from Dayton to Toledo, 140 miles; Piqua & Troy branch, from Troy to Piqua, 9 miles; Columbus, Findlay & Northern, from Deshler to Findlay, 21 miles; Bowling Green Railway, from Tontogany to North Baltimore, O., 18 miles; Home Avenue Railroad company, from Third street to Soldiers Home, Dayton, 3 miles; Lima Belt, 1 mile; Cincinnati, Findlay & Ft. Wayne, from Findlay, Ohio, to Fort Wayne, Indiana, 75 miles; and from Delphos to Maumee, Ohio, 12 miles; Cincinnati & Dayton, from Hamilton to Middletown, 12 miles; Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western, from Hamilton, Ohio, to Springfield, Illinois, 80 miles; Hamilton, O., Belt line, about 3 miles.

The C. H. & D. owns perpetual leases of the Dayton & Michigan, dated 1863, and the perpetual lease to use the tracks and other necessary property of the Lake Shore & Michigan Eastern R.R. Co. There are several other perpetual leases of somewhat less importance.

Shares of stocks owned by the C. H. & D. in various railroad and other corporations, as set forth in Loveland's report, are as follows: Dayton & Michigan, 100 shares at $50 each; Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western, 11,158 shares at $100 each; Cincinnati, Findlay & Ft. Wayne, 12,500 at $100; Piqua & Troy branch, 5,000 at $50; Toledo & Findlay, 10,000 at $100; Columbus, Findlay & Northern, 857 at $100; Bowling Green, 787 at $50; Miami Valley, 300 at $100; Lima (Ohio) Belt line, 16 at $100; Hamilton (Ohio) Belt line, 409 at $100; Cincinnati & Dayton, 2,625 1/2 at $100; Toledo & Ohio River, 10 at $10; Toledo Southern Traction, 100 at $100; C. H. & D. Traction, 50 at $100; Dayton & Union, 880 at $50; C. H. & D. Electric Elevator company, 250 at $100; Cincinnati & Dayton, 100 at $100; Wainwright Coal company, 200 at $100; Great Central Coal company, 500 at $100; Manchester Land company, 100 at $100; C. N. O. & T. P., 5 at $100; Pere Marquette, 119,000 at $100; Southwestern Construction company, 7,500 at $100; Tuxhorn Coal company, 400 at $100; Woodside Island Park company, 100 at $50; Queen City Club, 1, no value given.

Bonds owned are as follows: Cincinnati & Dayton, $300,000; C. H. & D. refunding bonds, $250,000; scrip under C. H. & D. refunding bonds, $27,271; Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western first and refunding, $50,000; Hamilton (Ohio) Belt, $25,000; Piqua & Troy branch, $25,000; Toledo, Findlay & Springfield, $100,000; Tuxhorn Coal company, $25,000.

The C. H. & D. owns a perpetual lease from the Cincinnati Museum association for property at Ivorydale, Ohio, at an annual rent of $1,500.

Special Master Loveland finds that none of the additions and improvements made subsequent to the mortgage constitute "after acquired" property within the meaning of that term as used in the mortgage, and he also finds that no line of railroad has been acquired either by construction or by purchase since the issue of the mortgage bonds, nor have any of the stocks or bonds enumerated been acquired since the date of the mortgage bonds.

In his conclusions of law, Mr. Loveland finds that the mortgage covers the lines owned and operated from Cincinnati to Dean, Ohio, and from Dayton to Delphos, Ohio, all being individuals and does not cover the Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western, the Piqua & Troy branch, the Columbus & Findlay and some others, but it does cover the perpetual leases set out in the report. He says that he finds that the mortgage does not cover the shares of stock or other securities nor the capital stock in the lines operated by the C. H. & D. or of the securities of land and security companies.

Clerk Loveland says that it appears from the evidence that at the time of the execution of the mortgage the mortgagee owned the capital stock of corporations which owned the lines of railway operated by ed the lines of railway operated by it. He asks, "Does this make the mortgagee the real owner of these lines of railway? The interest of a stockholder is not the interest of an owner. Individual stockholders are interested in the property of the corporation. The property of the corporation is the more investment whereby the stock is made to produce the dividends. It is clear that the mortgagee did not consider itself the owner of any of the railway properties or intend the lien of the mortgage to extend to or embrace the corporate property belonging to those corporations."

He further finds that the leases and contracts do not come within the scope of the mortgage, and neither does it extend to or embrace the stocks and bonds, whether owned by the mortgagee or acquired afterward. The real estate not included in the route above mentioned and not actually used in connection therewith is also not included in the mortgage.

SERIOUS WORK.

Dr. Truethood discussed the significance of some of the special conventions adopted by the second Hague Conference which exclude warlike operations entirely from certain fields and make war in general much more difficult and less likely to occur at all.

As to the important work of the conferences, the speaker said: "The first Hague Conference gave up the Permanent International Court of Arbitration, to which the power represented finally became parties by ratification of the convention. This court has not for eight years been in successful operation, and not less than four controversies have been referred to it during the past year. The second Hague Conference enlarged and strengthened the convention under which this court was set up, and made the court the tribunal, not of the powers already represented, but of all the nations of the world. Though reference of disputes to this tribunal is still in general voluntary, a majority of the important nations, have already, by special treaties with each other in pairs, pledged themselves to refer all disputes of a judicial order and those arising in the interpretation of treaties to its jurisdiction. It is possible to believe, therefore, that we have arrived at a stage in the development of our movement when there already exists among the nations a substitute for war, practically, if not theoretically, adequate to the adjustment of all their disputes, without resort to force. In a way to conserve the honor and vital interests of the separate governments.

Another step of still greater importance was taken by the second Hague Conference in the direction of providing a perfect substitute for force in the settlement of international differences. It voted without dissent, a delegation for the principle of an International Court of Arbitration, with judges always in action, and holding regular sessions. The speaker said it is safe to say that the difficulty in regard to the selection of the judges will be speedily solved, and that we shall have in a comparatively short time the august tribunal which will render war between the powers of the world scarcely thinkable. He continued:

"The high water mark of the work of the second Hague conference was reached in its action in regard to future meetings of the conference. The principle of periodic meetings of the conference hereafter was approved without a dissenting voice. The date even to the third conference was fixed and the governments urged to appoint at least two years in advance an international commission to prepare the program of the meeting. This action means, if approved by the several powers, as it undoubtedly will be, that we are to have hereafter regular meetings of a world conference. The powers of the conference, will at first be only advisory, but in the very nature of the case its conclusions and recommendations will be very largely adopted, and in this way it will, from the very start, be substantially a legislative world assembly. Its powers will naturally grow and be extended. Here we reach the real position which the peace movement has attained. The promise, therefore, is very large for the year just before us, for when the nations meet representatively at regular periods, and men of the highest ability and experience discuss in a friendly and frank way all of the common problems of the world, the days of war will be numbered, the great armaments which now burden and distract humanity will tumble to pieces, and the era of universal and perpetual peace will have begun. It takes no large vision to see this great consummation realized at no distant time."

Miss Eckstein's Address.

A world petition, having for its purpose the abolition of war and substitution of pacific means for the settlement of international difficulties, which will be presented to the Third Hague Conference, was discussed by Miss Anna B. Eckstein, of Boston, one of the speakers at today's session of the Second National Peace Conference. The petition already has between four and five million signatures, declared Miss Eckstein, who urged that it be sent to represent a majority world vote when it is submitted to the Third Hague Conference by a delegation of peace workers from all over the world. Miss Eckstein, in her address, said: "The World-Petition is the outcome of a pressing need, a democratic duty, a practical experiment and an ideal concerning national integrity and honor. The pressing need is the abolition of war and substitution of pacific means for the settlement of international difficulties. It is the most pressing need of today for two reasons: First, because preparation for war has grown so expensive that it is driving the nations with alarming rapidity toward the abyss of bankruptcy; and second, because war itself has become ineffective as a means of deciding international controversies, since a war between two of the leading powers, today, would mean mutual economic ruin before a decisive victory and defeat could be reached.

"The democratic duty is the duty evolving from the democratic right, now enjoyed by most peoples, to have a voice in the shaping of their national and international affairs. It is the duty to exercise this right, while it is not as yet, within human power to prevent attack upon the life of every individual, it is a simple matter, today, to provide absolute immunity from danger by external forces for the life of the 44 nations of the world, when meeting at the Hague for the third conference, sign a convention stating that it shall be a universal law that no verdict by arbitration, or other pacific means, in the settlement of any international difficulty, shall endanger the self-preservation and development, in other words, the vital interests of any national, nor its honor. The honor of a nation being distinctly defined as the protection by a nation of its own self preservation and development without infringing upon the conditions necessary for the self-preservation and development of other nations.

"This single international law, which will be as easy to make, as the laws concerning the international relations of nations, will be arranged for postal and telegraph service—this single law will, with one stroke, shift the responsibility for national life and honor from the shoulders of armies and navies and war to the shoulders of fair-play statesmanship working through pacific means. And with the responsibility must and will go what belongs to it, the financial and brain support which will strengthen and perfect the pacific institutions for the settlement of international controversies, and the causes of such controversies must be minimized, so that the declaration of the abolition of war will be a safe thing to do, and that each nation can safely begin, as it sees fit in its own peculiar case, to reduce armies and navies.

"This is the sense and purport of the world-petition. It asks the governments of the Third Hague Conference to sign conventions pledging agreement to the three points just described:

"1. Removal of the causes of war by specially regulating all international interests by conventions and treaties, each with clause insuring pacific settlement of any difficulty that may arise from said arrangements.

"2. Settlement by pacific means of all difficulties arising from international interests not yet covered by convention or treaty with pacific clause.

"3. Universal law that decision by pacific means of any international difficulty shall, in no case, endanger the self-preservation and development, i. e., the vital interests and honor of any nation.

"Just give your imagination full rein for a minute or two and see what it will mean, when these three points shall have been placed upon the program of the Third Hague Conference, and when conventions pledging agreement to these three points shall have been signed by the plenipotentiaries of the 44 nations.

"It will mean the solution and disappearance of what whole line of subtle questions as to which kinds of wholesale murder, cruelty and piracy shall be allowed during war and which shall be forbidden, for what sense would there be in any longer trying to regulate and mitigate war, after war is abolished? It will put an end to all the moral mischief done by duping people into the belief that a war is imminent every time a bill for building more warships or for increasing armies is before a parliament, because than all people, not only some, will know better, it will mean that these bills will gradually grow fewer and smaller, and that in proportion with the reduction of the nameless waste involved by standing armies and navies, sums upon sums of money, and the physical and mental power of thousands and eventually millions of the finest specimens of men will be turned from destructive channels to help solve the new political and legal problems and the problems of hygiene, education and unemployment; it will mean the positive decrease of the sum-total of suffering and hideousness inflicted upon man by man, and the steadfast increase of the sum-total of happiness and beauty. Did ever tournament of old, ever struggle for national independence hold out the peer of such a prize?"

How They Stand.

(By F. W. Sheridan.)
Pittsburgh, May 3.—Before a crowd of 300 shivering but loyal fans, and with the atmosphere charged with icy blasts from the north pole, the Stogies at Millbrook Park, Sunday afternoon by the score of 4 to 3.

With Lima, it seems as though they have been playing in a pole league, where ice is as thick as the gloom in the grand stand Sunday afternoon. Were the Stogies playing in the Arctic regions, then they would be the one best bet to cop the flag, for the weather was something of the same nature as described by Andree when he took one last search for the north pole. But be that as it may, there is no use denying the fact that the locals lost the game by poor playing, and Lima simply proved by their mistakes. That is a sufficient explanation, but at the same time it looked pretty darned tough to the people in the stadium and on the bleachers to see the game handed over to the up-staters when they had no more license to win than a dray horse has to capture the Kentucky Derby. But it is one of the fortunes of baseball. It has occurred numerous times, and long after this generation has turned to dust or gone to glory, the same thing will happen, and the same wry faces will be made. You just simply have to grin and bear with it and pray that it won't happen very often.

The teams are pretty evenly matched. Neither has a cinch, and no book-maker is going to post any odds when Lima and Portsmouth are to have a fuss on the diamond. It's pay your money and take your choice. While errors lost the game for the home boys, nevertheless the spectators were treated to a hard battle, one that was exciting from start to finish. There was not a dull moment during the nine innings, and not a second but either team had a chance to put it across. There were plenty of opportunities to root, in fact, the fellow had root or freeze and he chose the latter—it's more natural.

Lima possibly excelled the locals when it came to work on the bases. It looked that way from a spectators standpoint. Possibly they have inside ball whittled down to a little sharper point than the Shoemakers, or it might be that the spectators do not know a darned thing about it. This much they do know, however, and that is that the Stogies had all the best of the luck, the maiden, Miss Goddess, of Fortunville, failing to maiden will lolly-pog all over the Shoemakers, so there is no use to hand her anything at this stage of the race.

While the locals took the small end of the argument, and while the spectators know why, be it understood right here that there are plenty of times when the Stogies will likely pay it back with interest. They can't get away with what they did Sunday and not suffer for it. Why, maybe the very next time out they will have a generous streak in their make-up and hand over to the locals what they took Sunday. Remember that statement.

Holmquist, lately of the Toledo Mud Hens, but now a full fledged member of the Shoemakers, occupied the kourie for Manager Doyle's fledglings, and he did nobly. It was not his fault that he did not bring home half way support, he would be writing Phil Armour tonight and telling him what a mistake he made when he turned him over to the locals. He did not have the best of control, and that had a tendency to keep him in pretty warm saddle most of the time. At that he demonstrated that he has plenty of class to settle him to a berth in the Shoemakers' sleeper and that he will be drawing salary from Pres. G's check book until the fire is out. He has a head on his shoulders that is filled with gray matter, and he demonstrated that he is one heavier that knows how to field his position. He did nothing noteworthy at the bat, but a fellow don't want to begin that, or he will have to point out a few others in the game.

Opposed to Holmquist was tall Mr. Pi-kott—well named if height has anything to do with his ancestors. He is the same fellow who was run struck at Coney Island last summer, but he has evidently forgotten all about the balking he received, for he pitched a remarkably clever game. True, he was hit, and hit hard in spots—where they hurt the worse. But at the same time it was noticed that once or twice where a hit would have put the game in the locals' hamper, Mr. Pickett was as stingy with his base hits as a fellow is of his bottle in a dry town. He was wild, too, but fortunately his generosity did not blossom into runs—that's the only place he had it on his opponent.

The game could rightly be termed a "battle between pitchers," with Mr. Pickett having the best break in the luck, or much better support—it's all in the way you happen to look at it. When it came to the hitting end of the game, don't overlook that sorrel top on the locals' roster—the fellow who keeps the lid on first base. Twice was Ches called upon to hit her out and twice he nobly responded—once with a two cushion shot to center that would have been a three sacker had the three runners on the sacks felt that the ball was going to fall safe. As it was it scored two runs, and that is going some.

Evans on second for the locals was also a host. The way the big fellow patroled that precinct was a caution. He seemed to be all over the diamond and demonstrated to a certainty that while he is not a fancy player, that no is there with the right wild cat and a player who can always be depended upon in a pinch. Both he and Captain Duffy spanked out a two sacker, the latter also playing a dandy game at third. Catcher Ragsdale had an extremely poor day in the field, and no one knows it better than popular Rags. Why, he won't have another such day though he lives to play ball until he is a century old. He was as sore as a two weeks old boil that the core has not left and even though it was Sunday, gave himself a certain lecture before he went to Slumberville. That's all right, Rags. Everybody has their off days now and then, even a preacher—especially when he has to milk the cow on Sabbath morning and the heifer knocks the bucket over on his frock coat. O'Hara, who was substituting in Totman's place in right, had his troubles, as well as Collins at short. All of you larkies will be there the next time out. Portsmouth can't win 'em all, and the fans had forgiven you all long before they left the park.

That man Foutz. Won't some one please see to it that he is put in jail until after the present series? That tall yap has been in Portsmouth before and there has not been a game won by Lima from the locals, but what he had considerable to do with it. He is to Lima what Hans Wagner is to Pittsburgh, and everybody is up to it that without Wagner the Pirates would not stand a ghost of a show to finish in the first division. His two bagger in the first inning scored Miller with the first run of the game and paved the way for victory. It happened this way: Fink breezed for a starter and Newham went out Collins to first. Miller wanted them out and then Foutz, Dave's brother, spanked out to deep center for a couple of bags, Miller registering. Manager Fohl then holsted one to right. O'Hara camped under it, but unfortunately dropped it, Fohl being tossed out at second. The umpire said that Foutz crossed the Rubicon before Foutz was put out, but had the fans been appealed to they would have informed the arbiter that the reverse was true. There were two umpires, however, Messrs. McDermott and Tibbotts, and what they said went, and don't you forget it. The former looked classy—the latter, who makes Ragsdale look like a yearling when they sidled up together, looks well, allow the fans to supply the missing word—they did it several times, Sunday.

In the fifth the visitors scored their third run without the assistance of the semblance of a hit. After Pickett had skied out, Fink walked and went all the way to third on a hit struck by Rags in an effort to nail him at second. Newham also promanaded on to wide ones. Miller looped one to short, but Collins dropped it and Fink scored. Then Newham was tossed out at second and Foutz died when he lammed one to Evans.

The visitors made the winning run in the ninth. Fink's life was spared on a poor throw of his grounder to Collins. He stole—bad loss to him, and went to third on Newham's sacrifice. Miller cut in with a pretty bingle to right and Fink crossed the pan. Foutz hit into a double.

In the third inning the locals made a run, and earned it, too. Evans doubled for a starter and was put down on a sacrifice by McAllister. Captain Duffy slammed a double to left and Evans chalked up the first run of the game. But neither Spencer nor Jutz could bring der captain to port.

In the fifth the locals got busy. After Holmquist had gone out Evans received a base on balls. Mack spanked a saucy little single to center, and Captain Duffy was hit by Pickett. Then Spencer landed one a mile high in center, and two runs came over. Jutz tried hard, sending one to Foutz and Duffy was caught at the plate on a nice toss by the same Foutz. The locals had plenty of opportunity to win the game, but that hit was not forthcoming. The score: Lima 3, Portsmouth 2.

COUNTY INSTITUTE

Of W. C. T. U. at West Cairo
Friday Was Largely Attended.
NO CESSATION
IN THE BATTLE
To Abolish the Saloons.
Strong Address by
Mrs. Megrail.

The West County Women's Christian Temperance Union met for the opening session of their county institute in the Methodist church of West Cairo Friday, April 30th, at 10.30 a. m. In the absence of the County President, Mrs. McHaffey, the County Corresponding Secretary, Rosa M. Tovey, opened the session. In honor of the occasion the good sisters of West Cairo had beautifully decorated the church with white flowers, potted plants and plenty of white ribbons in evidence. The church was well filled with delegates and visitors when devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Dora Harpster, who read the 17th chapter of John. All joined in singing the national hymn, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," followed by prayer by Rev. Wright, and singing "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." Address of welcome by Miss Ida Schindler, secretary of West Cairo Union. The committee for press work and courtesies were then appointed. The opening number of the program was given by Miss Daisy Garner, of Cairo, a student of "Columbus Leaf and Dumb School," who rendered in her own silent language, "Nearer My God to Thee."

Mrs. Cora B. Megrail, Ohio W. C. T. U. organizer and lecturer, took up the work of literature and plans of the union which is state wide prohibition. Her talk was instructive and comprehensive along that line of work, pleading that a Christian spirit ever be shown.

Mrs. James Wright, of West Cairo, read a paper on the Loyal Temperance Legion work. She urged the necessity of leaders to take charge of the young in the temperance work, and her address brought forth an animated discussion, a desire being expressed that Junior Christian Endeavorers and Epworth Leagues take up the work, as there was great need of ploughing deep, and sowing seed plentifully. Mrs. Megrail then gave a parliamentary drill which was very instructive and enjoyed by all.

Our County President, Mrs. McHaffey, now being with us, announced that Mrs. Kohli, of Bluffton, sent regrets at not being able to be with us to lead the noon-time prayer service. Mrs. Jane Myers, of Lima Union, was selected for that service after which followed noon recess for luncheon, the institute re-opening at 1.30 p. m.

Mrs. Megrail presented the W. C. T. U. literature and urged every white ribboner to have a copy of her own.

The afternoon session was opened by the Union singing "Onward Christian Soldiers." Prayer by Rev. Wright.

A gavel was then presented to our county president, Mrs. McHaffey, by the Elida Union for her long, faithful service of over 22 years. Mrs. Herr, of Elida, who made the presentation speech, said:

"Madame President:—In the rounds of duties and pleasures that come to us in life, some stand out with vividness—vivid because of extraordinary conditions or exceptional honors and pleasures. I feel that the occasion which brings me before you today often comes upon us unlooked for and as we sometimes think uninvited. It is thus with me today, and I feel the weakness of the duty before me. This society as a county organization has been established 24 years.

"Since our connection with the society we have noticed on the occasion of such gatherings as this, the absence and need of certain articles. That something was lacking was proverbially evident to others. If so, it was not manifested, or at least not demonstrated in a material or tangible form. It seemed to be left to the society at Elida, possibly because of the unusual keenness of intellect of its members to discern this need. It is one of the teachings of our great organization that the influence of liquor by personal use, inherited tendencies or environments, is to deaden the intellect. Our beautiful little city of Elida has been free from the degrading effects of the saloon twenty years. This may be a point for that community of mind which enabled us to discern the need of the hour, but to invent it. At one of our recent meetings it was decided that our society purchase and present to the county organization through its president that which we feel the president of the county should have. This gavel representing the gavel to you as president, we were for you a link of it, but as a gift of so much wooden material, with so little intrinsic value, but we want you to think of the prayers of the earnest women of our society, that are a link of this. And we want you to know that the prayers will ever be that each tip of this gavel shall indicate a forward step in our noble cause and the death knell of another den of iniquity. And should it be that in the providence of God you should not remain to see the fruit of the work of the cause that is so dear to you and to us all, may this gavel fall with the mantle of your power to your successor in whose hands we shall hope that at no distant day it shall sound the final death knell of that curse of curses, and sinners, that has been blighting the homes and boys and girls of our fair land.

Mrs. McHaffey accepted the gavel very graciously. The Lima trio followed with "Jesus Savior Pilot Me." Then Reverend Traub gave a ten minute talk on "The Bible and Temperance in Public Schools." Rev. McKang talked on "Whether or Not Children Should be Educated from the License System." After which Mrs. Megrail made a statement that not one dollar of the saloon tax went to our school fund. If it did it was contrary to our state law. After she had explained the exact disposition of money derived from liquor licenses, the Lima trio sang "Make the Map All White."

Then followed an open parliament for department work, the subject being "The Latest Work in Alcohol," showing its effect on individuals and that seventy-five per cent. of the crime of our land is produced by alcohol. Song by Elida duet. Mrs. Mary Michaels then spoke on "Scientific Temperance Instruction." She said that under the supervision of Supt. Davidson it is well taught in Lima schools. She also told of the effects of tobacco and cigarettes.

The matter of press work was discussed by Mrs. McHaffey. The reading of papers with liquor advertisements in them and whether it is advisable to allow such papers to be sent in our homes for the perusal of our children, was fully discussed. Mrs. Crayton read a paper on "Woman's Suffrage," which was very broad, giving the cry for a better government which shall begin in the home and end at the capital.

Mrs. McDorman, of Lafayette, county superintendent of Christian Citizenship, then read a paper on "Christian Citizenship," and the subject was ably handled.

Report of resolution committee was read and acted upon, after which a recess was taken until evening.

Evening session began at 7.30 p. m. Mrs. Tovey being in charge of the devotional exercises which consisted of song and prayer. Rev. Kelly addressed the Union. It was an excellent address. He expressed himself as glad the women were bringing the gigantic liquor evil before the people, and paid a high compliment to women's intelligence.

One of the treats of the evening was a duet by Mrs. Herr and Mrs. Councillor, entitled "Dreaming Tonight." It seemed to us in years to come we should associate this song with our meeting in West Cairo.

Then came that masterly address of the evening by our State Organizer Mrs. Megrail, who said:

"We are glad the hand of progress has moved so far on the chart of human destiny. The manifestations of progress, so far as we have observed them, are these:

"First, hope cherished in some prophetic heart, a voice crying aloud in some wilderness. The voice is unneeded, seemingly is silenced and a mournful despair follows. But time moves on, and lo! in the place of the solitary voice a whole chorus of voices makes itself heard. Depression gives way to fresh hope and the good sought for is established.

"We sometimes talk with a great flourish about 'the triumph of progress.' There is no such thing known in history as a triumphal march of progress. No kind of marches is known except forced marches.

"There is no record of triumph of right simply because it is right regardless of bloody agony, martyr's stakes and crosses of crucifixion. Every civil and religious liberty we now enjoy has been wrung from some unwilling grasp and comes to us bearing the price mark of blood and tears. The sons of compromise and the daughters of inertia and their multitudinous brood of moral degenerates have ever and always raised their voices in favor of what seemed to be the established order of things, be it beggarly in its poverty, or so infamous in its crimes that it crimes cry into heaven for redress. No matter how glorious the goal nor how imperative the call for reform, self-sufficiency, action, many, say very many, would rather bear the ill that grows of a wrong heap upon them than do the thing which is betterment at the expense of courage and unflinching effort.

What a terrible path is trodden by him who seeks to turn the world from its error and its idols.

For 120 years the world has laughed, the common sense people wondered, and the patient saint went on hammering and piling his work. But one morning, somewhere, Noah and his ark, such a fool, the world would look rather different when the water was knee deep to the necks and their boats would stick in their throats as they drowned.

Noes found the Children of Israel did not appreciate their deliverance from bondage, even though they were to pass out with a high hand to walk over the Red Sea on dry ground while their pursuers were swallowed up in the waters of that great sea. Pioneering for the salvation or betterment of the race was not popular even in Christ's time. Did he not say 'The foxes have holes and the birds of the air have nests but the son of man has not where to lay his head.' Even now having entered upon its 20th century of history, the church, the greatest institution of the world ever had or ever will have, can hardly be pronounced popular, in the common acceptance of that term, seeing it is reaching but one in five in this Christian land of the open Bible; only 2 per cent of our young men. When the first trump of anti-slavery was sounded how feeble did it seem! What was such a protest against the inclination of a whole people? It was disregarded, continued, vilified, ridiculed. But a time came when the hosts of the heavenly court sustained that public protest, and the evil usage which sold men and women like cattle became impossible and obsolete.

The Temperance Reform has passed through all these stages of slavery reform, except the last and we rejoice to note that some states have even passed the stage of impossible. The same commodity is required though different weapons of warfare are employed to de throne slavery—namely—public opinion or public sentiment. Mr. Wayne B. Wheeler, the man whom liquorism would like to have hung, says public sentiment is really the 4th department of our government. Hence we need not be surprised to have our government departments designated Executive, Legislative, Judicial and Meditative.

Public sentiment and bullets abolishing the traffic in slaves; public sentiment founded on the real nature and effect of alcohol and ballots will abolish the traffic in alcohol. Have the sovereign people of nine of our commonwealths and a goodly portion of many others said the traffic shall longer be possible under the law? and long, long before another 40 years have passed will the manufacture of multi-millionaire brewers and distillers be obsolete in this republic and its possessions.

Maine has had prohibition for half a century and her liquor law is as well enforced as any of her other laws enacted for the prevention of crime. Yet the traffic is not annihilated in Maine.

The indifference of the Kansas people to their prohibitory law gave rise to Carrie Nation's hatchet which was heard round the world. Scarcely had the reverberations ceased when Assistant Attorney General Trickett resorted to padlocks and later built bombines in the streets of Kansas City, of joint furniture and fixtures—and the liquor traffic after 29 years of profitable violation of their prohibitory law moved out of Kansas for the benefit of its health. To stay? To stay out just so long as the Kansas people live up to their full privilege under the law and not one whit longer. The army canteen is buried beyond reasonable hope of resurrection so long as the temperance forces keep vigilant as was proven by that attempted truck of Rep. Fitzgerald, of New York, in the rush of the closing days of the 60th congress.

Let it be remembered that so long as any considerable portion of our country remains under the domination of the liquor power—the brewers, distillers, saloon keepers and their cohorts, it requires quite as much constant, persistent, steadfast effort to hold and enforce a prohibitory law as to secure its enactment. And let it also be remembered that a town cannot be as dry as it ought to be till we have a dry county; the county will never be as dry as it ought to be till we have a dry state; and the state will never be as dry as it ought to be until we have a dry nation. Let no one indulge the pleasing fallacy that because the town or county has been voted dry that the liquor traffic 'will fold its tent like the Arabs and go quietly and peacefully away.' Not at all. They will willingly violate the law so long as they are trying to get to be heard by passing the liquor regulations. Will recently although they are telling us all the while 'you can't make people good by law'—No, and you can't reason with 'em, but you can kill off the weeds with poison green.

The liquor traffic trying to reform itself is in much the same predicament as Pat's chicken. Pat went to the restaurant and ordered eggs served raw. He broke the shell and gulped down the first one, broke the second and gulped it down, but when the third was about half way down the chicken went 'creep, creep.' 'Oh,' said Pat, 'you're too late a spake!' The liquor traffic is 'too late a spake' to save itself from the wrath of an aroused and indignant public.

The liquor leopard has not changed his spots. And though driven to the jungle, still prowls by day and by night, and our dry towns and villages, seeking whom he may devour—the same lawless, defiant creature.

The result of enforcement will be the cry by liquor sympathizers that 'the law cannot be enforced.' It has become a laughing stock, therefore it should be repealed. Our legislators will be beguiled by this cry. Liquorism left Columbus disappointed, but not discouraged. They have already planned to perfect an organization of at least 200,000 voters with which to fight further legislation against the traffic as well as repeal. Some already existing. 200,000 is a mere drop in the bucket to what the Law and Order forces will have if they keep vigilant and keep vigilant they must. The brewers and distillers are among the dry counties with liquor advertisements. Breweries in dry counties have been shipping their product to adjacent wet territory to be re-shipped to dry counties. Liquor boats—floating saloons have been plying up and down the Ohio river near dry counties. The great need of the hour in every dry county is an educational campaign in which the mass of the people shall learn the provisions of our anti-liquor laws, and distribute generously to all interested. The Anti-Saloon League has issued a booklet called 'The County Option Law' with forms of affidavits and other information for enforcing it. This booklet contains the forms most likely to be needed at this time under the County Option and Blind Tug Laws. A more complete work on the laws relating to the liquor traffic is in process of preparation.

I may say passing, that either of the two attorneys for the Ohio League, whose addresses I will furnish on application, will, upon request, give further information and assistance in the enforcement of the local option laws or other laws relating to the liquor traffic.

Have business men, physicians, lawyers address young peoples' meetings and others.

Mass meeting should be held quarterly or oftener for the purpose of studying the county option laws called Law Enforcement meetings.

Lincoln said, "Without public sentiment no law can succeed, with it no law can fail." There is danger that many of our county option whirling mad tax payers will be misled by the fact that the liquor traffic is still in existence. Dr. Hadley, president of Yale University, said "As soon as the common people, meaning Lincoln's common people, the kind Lincoln said the Lord loved so well because he did so many of them, 'as soon as the common people get into their possession the principal facts touching the real nature of alcohol, they will drive every liquor saloon out of the country.' The W. C. T. U. came to this same conclusion 25 years before the Doctor and it takes a smart man to catch up that soon. It is significant that the beginning of what may be called the modern temperance movement is coincident with the passage of scientific temperance laws throughout the United States, which public teaching mandatory in the public schools. It is even more significant that the progress made along lines of total abstinence and legislation against the traffic has kept even pace with the faithfulness or failure of this teaching. A brilliant lawyer of New York said: "You show me a community in which temperance sentiment is dominant and I'll show you a community in which scientific temperance instruction is neglected in the schools."

One reason why we have lost so many battles at the polls when this issue is on because so many of our Christian total abstaining voters have cast an out-of-date, unscientific ballot. The primary reason why the enforcement of prohibitory law is so difficult and so uncertain is because we have stormed the citadel of the enemy in a spasmodic and piecemeal manner. Let the matter of expediency without the majority of the voters in that contest possessing the knowledge of the real reason why the saloon should go and why it should stay gone, which is the nature and effect of alcohol. Alcohol is not only a drug, a poison, but a double poison, and the most subtle and far-reaching of all poisons.

Let us look into this briefly: "Alcoholic liquors are poisons in the same sense as opium, cocaine or morphine and should be sold under the same laws as these poisons," says Dr. Nathan S. Davis. The alcohol is the one evil genius, whether found in ale or whiskey, wine or beer, and is killing the race of men, said Dr. Willard Parker Chas. Spurgeon, the great London divine, said: "Grape juice has killed more than grape shot." There are three general classifications of poisons: narcotics, irritants and narcotic irritants. Narcotics act specifically on the nerves and nerve centers, paralyzing them. Opium, cocaine and morphine are samples of how irritants act. Tobacco is a narcotic and its use affects the heart. Liquor, a narcotic irritant, attacks the brain, man's spiritual faculty and leads to crime and spiritual degradation, and it can therefore never be regulated to prevent harm being done.

One cannot regulate the nature of a thing out of that thing. 50 years ago alcohol was supposed to possess food properties, but that is disproved by testimony of all scientific authorities. Hence all schemes of regulation like dispensary license, Gothenberg system, etc., are scientifically wrong. Prohibition of the sale of a drug like alcohol is scientifically right. The temperance reform, not unlike other reforms of the past, has been 100 years ago at the wrong end of the line and has since been working its weary way backward to the point where it should have started. They began with what they saw and what they saw was bad fruitage which happened very incidentally, yet abnormally on a very good tree. They accordingly clubbed this bad fruitage off one year and thought a great good had been accomplished, but it came back the next year. They then cut back a big here and there and the tree began to grow again in another place. They in heroic desperation tried the plan of felling the whole tree, putting it into different environments, and into the hands of more respectful vine-dressers, giving it a new name, calling it temperance, but it yielded the same old bitter fruit. Today we are tracing the badness of the fruitage backward and downward through blossoms, twig and limb only to discover that the badness of the fruitage is involved in the character of the saproot. At this saproot all temperance societies are now laying the axe and some more effectively than the W. C. T. U. whose object has always been to educate public sentiment up to the standard of total abstinence, secure the best prohibition and complete banishment of the liquor traffic. That was worse far better than he knew when he wrote and the cabalistic letters W. C. T. U. placed on the fence "Washington Contract Taken Unconditionally."

The Anti-Saloon League is just now planning to launch a total abstinence department to be known as the Lincoln Legion. Let the question be settled on the basic principle of total abstinence and it will be settled right, and the cat will not come back to annoy in the efforts to enforce the law. The Crist-Cleveland bill will be a valuable aid as it will shut off liquor advertisements and solicitation in into effect. This law of the liquor laws are made to be obeyed the same as any other law. Let no one suppose Ohio will take nine years to set her house in order, much less 29, dilly dallying with the liquor traffic. The Buckeyes believe "the wicked see when no man pursueth," but they also believe they make a good deal better time when a few determined people get after them.

Public sentiment is the power behind the throne, not only to get the law and vote the county dry, but to keep it dry. Let no true, patriotic American citizen ever be guilty of saying, "the law cannot be enforced." It can be enforced if the people and the officers. (And I say people, first advisedly) if the people and the officers have enough red blood in their veins. To Americans it is an insult to our American manhood to say we cannot do what has been done in and done with the passing of the saloon. Ah, not so, friends. The real work is just begun for the end did not talk Miss Clara Councillor, who has a beautiful voice, sang, "There is a Land."

The Institute sang the national hymn with a vim, and Rev. Kelly pronounced the benediction, his exhortation one of the most successful and encouraging W. C. T. U. meetings ever held in the county.

Who shall execute the law? Not private individuals, not law and order league, not the W. C. T. U., but private officers each of whom has sworn to enforce the laws, is paid for doing it, and is elected for that purpose and given the machinery for doing it. Law Enforcement Leagues are often necessary to help secure evidence and to stand back of officers, but it is never wise to relieve officers of that which is their sworn duty to perform. "But suppose our officers are not in sympathy?" some one asks. I reply if your mayor is a 'wet' man call on your county prosecutor, or common pleas judge.

If your county prosecutor will not do his duty the common pleas judge can appoint another prosecutor to try these cases. Any mayor in your county or probate judge may have final jurisdiction. A village council may appropriate $100 out of the general fund to pay patrol service men to pat rollhouses, if that is necessary. All those collected for violation of the law may be taken for the purpose of bringing each offender before a judge and each common pleas judge may appoint a jury to secure evidence throughout the county. The sale of so-called soft drinks like Near Beer or No Brew in dry territory is a violation of the law.

Judge Richards, of Newburg, handed down a decision the other day that if the collection does not contain any alcohol and does contain malt its sale is a violation of the law. Dec. 3, defines intoxicating liquors as any distilled malt, vinous or any intoxicating liquor whatever. Any sale of any such is prohibited by the Ohio law.

Every person who knows of any violation of the Ohio law should report the same to proper authorities. The 'undesirable citizen' who openly avows that he knows more liquor is sold in the dry town or county than ever before, should be summoned before the grand jury to make good his claim, or 'forever after hold his peace.' Wet talk makes wet sentiment. Permit me to suggest a few opportunities for making dry sentiment. Almost every county now has a summer Chautauqua and a Temperance day. Every county fair should have and probably could have a temperance day. Every county should have at least one, more if practicable, when and after 4th of July celebration, safe and sober is excluded and 'Christian Citizenship' is the order of the day. And all counties have or should have S. T. U. at the county teachers' institutes as provided by law, and by the teachers the future officers are taught. If one use all the means now at our command for building sentiment and enforcing law, prohibition will prohibit, it may not annihilate. Seaborn Wright says all we need now is a re-baptism of the spirit of our daddies of the 60's, etc. We need a little of the spirit of that man who said "If I were mayor of Portland and the liquor traffic would obey the law or lay me in the grave" I would give them clubs and I would give them clubs and if that would not work I'd dynamite the whole bunch and arm the W. C. T. U. women with brooms and make a clean sweep. If a small army of 200 pound policemen, armed with clubs and guns cannot enforce the laws against a gang of law-breaking brewers, distillers, ex-saloon keepers and boot-leggers in Ohio or any other state, I'm in favor of building a boat and sending them home. If they are Irishmen they ought to go back ought to be sent back to Deutchland; if they are Laplanders they ought to go back to Lapland; if they are Jews they ought to be sent back to Judea; and if they are Americans—well they ought to be sent to the penitentiary for perjury, or to an asylum for the incompetent.

Wire Trouble.
All wires on the Pennsylvania were put out of commission by the heavy snow Thursday and Thursday night and was seriously inconvenienced in dispatching trains. The storm was the heaviest in the vicinity of the western state line and the wires were badly damaged. The Pennsylvania made up a special train with linemen and supplies aboard, which was sent out of Crestline early Thursday afternoon and is covering the entire division looking after the wire trouble.

Stringent Rules.
The state board of health of Montana has issued a new set of rules and regulations for sanitation and ventilation, applicable on all railroads operating within that state and to become effective June 1. The sanitation regulations are said to be the most stringent on record. They provide for the removal of passengers afflicted with communicable diseases and at the same time prohibit porters from using bedding provided for passengers or from sleeping in sleeping cars, unless separate compartments are provided. Also, strict regulations as to the cleaning of the trains and other features innumerable are to be introduced for the benefit of the traveling public.

DR. WHITLOCK DEAD

Was Stricken With Kidney Trouble While on Way to the Coast.

AMONG LEADING MEMBER OF CHURCH

In United States and Professor of Latin at Ohio Wesleyan.

Delaware, O. May 3. Dr. William Francis Whitlock, aged 75, the professor of Latin, language and literature at the Ohio Wesleyan University, and one of the most prominent Methodists in the United States, died here early yesterday of kidney trouble.

Several weeks ago he went to San Francisco to deliver the dedicatory address at the dedication of the new building for the branch office of the Methodist Book concern, which was destroyed by the earthquake.

While en route to Los Angeles he was stricken with kidney trouble, and for several weeks he was confined in the hospital. But it was thought that he had entirely recovered when he left the hospital.

He at once left for home and he had scarcely arrived here until he was again stricken with the old malady. For several days he was in a critical condition and the end came peacefully at 5:30 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Whitlock graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan University in 1889. He was a member of the North Ohio conference. Since 1884 he was a member of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, and was chairman of the book committee since 1925.

He was acting president of the Ohio Wesleyan University in 1904-1905. He had two brothers in the Methodist ministry, Rev. Dr. E. D. Whitlock, of Postoria, and Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Whitlock, of Danville, Illinois. Mayor Brand Whitlock, of Toledo, is his nephew. The funeral will be held in this city Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

P. H. C. NOTICE.

Lima Circle No. 210, Protected Home Circle will initiate a large class Tuesday evening, May 14th, at their hall in the house block. Each member of the circle is earnestly requested to be present. A fine evening session is anticipated. A program has been arranged and lunch will be served by the young ladies of the circle.

Deputy L. J. Swan's wife will be present to assist in the ceremonies. Lima Circle is in fine working order. A large number of new members has been added the past winter and the large class Tuesday evening will be followed by another class prior to the 15th. By order of the Secretary.

Whooping Cough.

This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Delbert McKee, of Harlan Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by all druggists.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the citizens of West Canal and vicinity: You are requested to meet at the town hall in West Canal, Wednesday evening, May 3, at 7:30 o'clock, to make arrangements for a Memorial Day program. Let us not forget the great sacrifice made by the boys in blue. If you wish memorial day fitting, observed this year in our village, be at this meeting. Committee.

Two Bings

Sounded on the Sabbath Day.

Two alarms were sounded Sunday to occupy the attention of the fire ladders. The first was from box 12, which called the department to the home of W. J. Hiseck, at the corner of Haller and West streets, where the woodshed had caught fire from some unknown cause. The flames were quickly extinguished with but little damage.

An alarm from box 21 called the ladders to the residence of Joseph Hoague, 212 East Wayne street, at the noon hour where a smoking stove proved to have caused unnecessary alarm. The stove pipe had been pushed into the fire too far and when a fire was built the house was filled with smoke.

FIFTY AND THIRTY

Jacob Lawrence Sentenced for Beating His Wife Sunday.

JAMES PATTON SENT TO TOLEDO.

Six Drunks Assessed the Customary One and Costs Monday.

Jacob Lawrence was arraigned in mayor's court Monday morning on charge of assault filed by his wife Mary Lawrence who claimed that he came home and abused her, at their home on East Spring street. The defendant entered a plea of guilty and was fined $50 and costs with a sentence to thirty days in the Toledo work house annexed.

To Toledo. James Patton was arrested Saturday night for drunkenness, and was sentenced to 30 days at Toledo. Patton was wanted on the charge of assault, filed by Harry Hams, night watchman at the C. H. & D. shops, which occasioned the heavy sentence. The defendant has figured in police circles several times during the past year, and the mayor decided to give him time for reflection, undisturbed by the busy world.

Six Drunks. John Flynn, Martin McTague, John Wireman, Wesley Meyers, Tom Burns and William Kennedy were each assessed $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Assault Case. George Fout was given a hearing in mayor's court on the charge of assault, filed by W. E. Marshall. Friday evening officers saw Fout attempting to force Marshall into a rear entrance to the Hair salon on East Market street, and heard Marshall remonstrating with him.

He ran across the street and Fout attempted to make a get-away, but was apprehended. The evidence showed that the men were acquainted and that Fout had taken care of the complaining witness when he had been intoxicated before at Kenton. The court reserved his decision.
